

Workers could invest up to $1,500
in Individual Retirement Accounts
when IRAs were introduced in 1974.
The limit was adjusted once.

But not enough.

To adjust for inflation, today's workers should be allowed to invest $5,000.

It's only fair.

* Source: Bureau of Labor Statistics, Consumer Price Index, All Urban Consumers - (CPI-U)